Remedy Interactive Announces RSIGuard for Linux Users

RSIGuard also now available in Spanish and Norwegian versions

National Ergonomics Conference & Exposition (NECE), Las Vegas, NV – November 16, 2009 —

Remedy Interactive Inc., a leading provider of enterprise software solutions that help organizations prevent workplace injuries and reduce injury-related costs, today announced support for Red Hat® Enterprise Linux 4® by releasing a compatible version of its RSIGuard® software. RSIGuard is an award-winning desktop injury prevention software that reduces the impact of repetitive strain injuries (RSI) for computer users. Remedy Interactive also announced the availability of RSIGuard in English, Dutch, Norwegian, and Spanish for Windows, Mac, and Red Hat Linux.

“As more customers began requesting a Linux-compatible version of RSIGuard, we realized that there’s a larger industry of heavy computer users – including software and geological engineers – whose health and productivity would benefit greatly from tools that reduce the risk of repetitive strain injuries,” said Kim Lopez, CEO of Remedy Interactive. “As the first and only company in our category to support 32-bit and 64-bit Windows, Mac OS X Snow Leopard version 10.6, and Red Hat Enterprise Linux 4, we’re giving customers further evidence of our commitment to innovation and to a healthy and productive work environment for all.”

Availability

RSIGuard customers with customized installation packages that are under a current maintenance agreement may request an RSIGuard update at any time. Any organization that is interested in evaluating RSIGuard Version 4, including the new Spanish and Norwegian versions, on Windows 7 or Mac OS X 10.6 can download a free trial version of RSIGuard from www.rsiguard.com/download.
