Desktop Injury Prevention Software Discounted If Purchased by December 31

LAS VEGAS, NV - National Ergonomics Conference & Expo (NECE) 2006 - November 28, 2006 – Remedy Interactive, Inc., a leading provider of enterprise solutions that help Global 1000 companies reduce their workers' compensation costs, today announced that its desktop injury prevention software RSIGuard® is now available for Apple® Macintosh® users. RSIGuard Mac® Edition includes the same key functionality found in Remedy Interactive's award-winning RSIGuard version 4.0 for Microsoft® Windows®.

Macintosh computer users who work in the creative arts (such as digital media, graphic arts, and desktop publishing) often spend long amounts of time on their computers, which can lead to strain. As a result, these users may benefit from the integrated set of tools provided by RSIGuard. RSIGuard monitors users' unique work patterns, provides work pattern modification tools that help incorporate ergonomic principles into users' work behavior, and helps users reduce or eliminate computer tasks which expose them to strain.

"Our overall vision is to help organizations prevent injuries across the entire enterprise and automate the risk management needs of any worker, in any environment," said Ben Archibald, Executive Vice President of Product Development for Remedy Interactive. "With RSIGuard Mac Edition, we're giving a fast-growing audience the best injury prevention desktop software available on the market, and helping organization stakeholders decrease workplace risk."

For large enterprises, RSIGuard Mac Edition can be integrated into Remedy Interactive's OES, a flexible web-based solution that helps risk managers and health and safety directors reduce corporate injury rates and costs by up to 40 percent. With the OES, organizations can identify risk of workplace injury proactively, automate injury prevention activities, and increase operational efficiencies.
